

Paul Henville

GVP, Global Product Delivery

Paul Henville is responsible for all deliverables of the Rimini Street Global Product Delivery team, which provides updates to Rimini Street clients across all ERP product lines. Mr. Henville is a proven enterprise software industry veteran with over 15 years of PeopleSoft HCM and PeopleSoft support and development experience. Mr. Henville has worked on numerous PeopleSoft releases, delivered new PeopleSoft Global Payroll country extensions for five countries, and provided maintenance support for seven countries.

During his tenure at PeopleSoft Mr. Henville was a senior development manager responsible for the initial releases of the Global Payroll product in the Asia/Pacific region as well as the development of upgrades from the local Asia/Pac versions of PeopleSoft to the core PeopleSoft HCM product. This entailed managing the initial strategy of releases and upgrades, working with clients on their business and technical needs, devising development release plans across multiple products, and managing the whole development and quality cycle through to final delivery.

Prior to his PeopleSoft experience, Mr. Henville's career exposed him to a wide range of ERP modules, products and roles. Mr. Henville has worked as a project manager, managing large implementations in the public and private sectors; and he has worked in presales, curriculum development and as a business and functional consultant. Prior to joining Rimini Street Mr. Henville worked with an Oracle Partner setting up a service delivery division.
